Beachfront Festival today to feature Navy band

The U.S. Navy Showband South of New Orleans, La. will be among the highlights of the Bay St. Louis Beachfront Festival which gets underway at 1 p.m. this afternoon.

Under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Wilbur C. Smith, Navy Band New Orleans is one of the United States' finest and most diverse musical groups. The band is homebased at the Naval Support Activity in New Orleans.

Navy Showband South made its debut at the 1984 Louisiana World Exposition and played regularly at the fair throughout its season. The band was also featured at the closing of the fair, playing with renowned New Orleans song stylist Irma Thomas.

Showband South received much acclaim during the 1985 Mardi Gras and was an integral part of that celebration's Rex parade. The unit travels regularly to Texas, Florida, Mississippi and throughout Louisiana.

Navy Showband South is under the leadership of MUC Phil Mahn. Playing music from the 40s through the 80's and featuring a Las Vegas type show, the ensemble performs concerts in the big band jazz idiom as well as dances and social events for active duty military personnel.

Comprised of a rhythm section, sax section, brass line and lead vocalists this unit excites audiences with its versatility and musicianship.

United States Navy Band New Orleans is one of the eleven official Navy Bands located in the Continental United States.

Established in January of 1971, the band performs to over 20,000,000 people annually in support of the Navy community, recruiting and community relations programs.

The band's operating core is made up of approximately 43 dedicated, highly trained musicians.

All members are designated Navy Musicians and graduates of the Armed Forces School of Music, Norfolk, Va.

Their talents, versatility and flexibility enables the band to form several diverse performing units, including a Ceremonial Band, Navy Showband South, High Tide (Top 40/variety), and the internationally famous U.S. Navy Steel Band.

Navy Band New Orleans is a tenant activity of, and under the operational control of the Commanding Officer, Naval Support Activity, New Orleans.

This elite Military Band represents both the United States Navy and the Crescent City in a vast range of military and community related functions.

From honors and ceremonies to Mardi Gras, the band provides a variety of music from traditional martial music to popular dance and calypso.

Providing this wide spectrum of music makes Navy Band New Orleans truly one of the "Navy's Finest."

Also featured at today's festival will be some 60 booths offering food, beverages, arts and crafts, professional and industrial displays, according to Tyson McMahon, festival coordinator.

Artists pursue projects with commission grants

Four Mississippi artists given FY1987 grants totaling $14,000 are pursuing arts projects which include recording the blues, creating stained glass and sculpture, and papermaking.

The Mississippi Arts Commission grants the funds through its Individual Artist Program which is designed to enhance the quality and scope of the artist's work or to promote career advancement in the artist's chosen discipline (or field).

The artists are from Leland, Jackson, Marks and Long Beach.

James "Son" Thomas of Leland, who has received national and international attention in blues and traditional music circles, is co-producing a master audiotape of his music, as well as a camera-ready design for an album jacket and an insert book about the history of blues.

Thomas is working with his accompanist, harmonica and guitar player, Walter Liniger who is a research scholar at the Blues Archive at the University of Mississippi.

The two have begun recording in a studio at Rust College in Holly Springs. The insert booklet is being prepared in cooperation with Dr. Ron Bailey and Barbara Watkins of the UM Afro-American Studies Program.

Andy Young of Jackson is producing a series of stained glass window panels for exhibition. The series is based on his original research of the Gothic period of stained glass windows of Northern Europe and the modern school of German stained glass design.

"The process of studying these two bodies of work will give me a more inspired and informed basis for pursuing original works in Mississippi...without the restrictions of a commissioned work," he stated in his application.

He is doing color studies, drawings and photographs and will create the series based on his interpretation of the research.

Tom Lee of Marks is building a series of ten outdoor sculptures based on ideas derived from his exposure to whirligigs. "Whirligigs are weathervane-like structures that use the wind to animate figures via a series of cranks or glass," he stated. "They are a common folk art product."

Lee said the idea came to him as a result of animating his sculptures. "My intentions are not to emulate or duplicate imagery or ideas that have already been expressed, but to use the structure of traditional whirligig imagery in the context of my own imagery and concerns," he said.

Vicki Lever of Long Beach has worked with the designer of a vacuum system used in making large sheets of handmade paper. The vacuum system extracts a large percentage of water allowing for greater efficiency in studio production and more opportunities for creative experimentation in casting techniques. Charles Hilger, designer of the vacuum system, consulted with Lever who now uses this system in her work.

Thomas and Young each were awarded $5,000; Lee was awarded $3,200 and Lever $800.

Legion Auxiliary letter did not recommend Bay band director be fired

BY DENA BENNETTE
An American Legion representative has stated that a letter discussed at a Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board hearing for band director Lana Ray Jones did not ask that the teacher be dismissed.

The hearing for Jones, who was notified March 31 that she would not be reemployed by the school district for the 1987-88 school year, has been continued but a date has not yet been set.

During the first part of the hearing Tuesday, Board Member Charles Benvenuti testified regarding the reason Jones was given for her nonreemployment, an incident in which band members sat on the ground during one of the stops in the Krewe of Triton Mardi Gras parade in early March.

He also made statements regarding a letter he believed came from Clement R. Bontemps' American Legion Post 139 about an incident the previous year regarding alleged poor behavior by band students during a Veteran's Day ceremony.

While he contended that the earlier incident had not been involved in the decision not to reemploy Jones, Benvenuti said he was aware of the letter and had received a copy with other board members, adding that he may have received a copy from an American Legion member John Wilkerson at the time it was written.

Later in testimony, Board Member L.D. Carter said he believed the letter came from Post 139's auxiliary unit.

The letter actually came from the auxiliary unit and was written by Lou Wilkerson, John Wilkerson's wife. She was serving as the unit's Americanism chairman at the time.

John Wilkerson said he had complained about the band's behavior but had not written a letter. He had instead visited then-Superintendent of Education J.D. McCullough.

"We did talk, but we never suggested at any point that somebody be fired," Wilkerson explained.

He said he also appeared before the board later because he felt that nothing had been done about the letter.

Wilkerson explained that he had criticized the school board at the time because board members had brought up the matter of an anonymous letter concerning the conduct of its present superintendent, Roger Oge, during one of his previous jobs in Louisiana.

"I felt it was ridiculous for them to consider an unsigned letter in a public meeting after they had failed to consider my wife's letter," he explained.

He stated that he also felt the meeting with McCullough had provided no results.

Testimony from Benvenuti, Carter and Board President Betty Diboll had indicated that Jones had also attempted to discuss the matter at a board meeting, but had apparently left after a private discussion with a former board member who was president at the time.

The testimony did not bring out any of the specific statements in the letter nor did any of the witnesses specify what the alleged behavior problem had been.

In addition to criticizing the band at the parade, Mrs. Wilkerson also criticized the behavior of students in general at football games.

The letter states, "Enclosed you will find what remains of an American flag. This was picked up by a veteran who fought and gave part of his life for its safety."

"These flags were given to every student who participated in the Veteran's Day Parade on Nov. 11 by the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 from Waveland. The Bay High Band and some junior high students destroyed them as you can see. There was a large paper bag full of the flags in the same condition."

"These students weren't asked to do anything more than the other schools were asked to do. It was the middle of the day and the weather had changed but the other two bands managed to behave."

"The girls from OLA even had long-sleeved sweaters on, and they didn't have to lay down. Hancock North Central had a girl get sick but the rest of the band didn't tear up the flag."

"There is no excuse for this type of behavior. Something is lacking in the education of our children. In this case, I believe they lacked supervision and discipline."

"As Americanism Chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary Unit in Bay St. Louis, I have been instructed to write this letter in hope that some action can be taken to insure the public that this will not happen again."

"We would also like to recommend that the school begin a program to educate our children in the American Way."

"Last year we gave a flag code pamphlet to every student and teacher in every school in Bay St. Louis. It could have been used as a teaching aid but I wonder if it was used at all."

"If you attend the football games you see the worst display of bad manners that you'll ever see—no respect for God or country. Our schools need classes in Americanism."

"In closing let me say, we want and need our schools to participate in all of our programs. We have many programs that are youth-oriented."

"We only ask that our children represent our schools with good manners and good behavior."

Jones had not yet responded to the allegations regarding either the Mardi Gras parade or the Veteran's Day parade when the hearing was continued Tuesday.

Bay man dies in accident on Jordan River bridge

A Bay St. Louis man was killed and three others were injured early Thursday morning when a car crashed into a pickup truck parked alongside Interstate 10.

Michael T. Catledge, 29, of Bay St. Louis died from head injuries after the Oldsmobile in which he was riding crashed into a pickup truck parked in the eastbound emergency lane of the Jordan River Bridge on Interstate 10 in Hancock County, according to Staff Sgt. Joe Gazzo of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Frank Mittaga, 51, and his son, Joe Mittaga, 24, both of Lafayette, La., had parked their truck on the side of the bridge after a livestock trailer they were pulling had a blowout, Gazzo said.

They parked the truck behind the trailer, put the yellow emergency flashing lights on and went to sleep stretched out on the seats of truck's cab, Gazzo said.

Shortly after 4 a.m., Troy Snavelly, 18, of Bay St. Louis, who was driving an Oldsmobile automobile and his passenger, Catledge, crashed into the rear of Mittaga's truck, Gazzo said.

The impact of the crash propelled Frank Mittaga, who was sleeping in the truck's front seat, through the windshield of the truck and over the railing of the bridge, Gazzo said. Mittaga fell an estimated 45 feet and landed in the soft mud on the bank of the river. He sustained minor injuries, Gazzo said.

Joe Mittaga, who was sleeping on the rear seat of the truck, also was hurled through the front window of the truck and landed on the hood of the vehicle, sustaining minor injuries, Gazzo said.

The driver of the car, Snavelly, sustained head injuries and was taken to Hancock Medical Center, Gazzo said. Catledge was taken first to Hancock Medical Center and then to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport, where he died at about 9:20 a.m., Gazzo said.

Investigating Trooper Freddy Keel said there were no skid marks leading up to the scene of the accident, indicating that Snavelly may have fallen asleep at the wheel before hitting the truck, Gazzo said. The speed at which Snavelly was estimated to have been traveling has not been determined, Gazzo said.

Quotables
by CUEVAS

A blood drawing will be conducted Wednesday from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 on Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

Persons who are physically able and 17 years or older can donate a unit of blood and help a very good cause.

As most of you know, during the summer months there is an extra need for blood because of the many accidents in the area.

A quota of 100 units has been set by the Hancock County Blood Bank and chairman John Rutherford said Friday he is hoping this drive will pass the quota.

We are hoping the goal will be reached, help if you can.

Today the Beachfront Festival is scheduled for Bay St. Louis' Downtown area.

The format for the festival has been changed tremendously with organizers hoping for a large turnout for the event.

Festivities get underway at 1 p.m. this afternoon.

Hurricane Awareness Week in Mississippi

Hurricane Season officially began June 1 and runs through the end of November. With this in mind, the National Weather Service, in cooperation with the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency and the Federal Emergency Management Agency, will conduct a Hurricane Awareness Week in Mississippi during the second week in June.

Although all parts of the state may feel the effects of a hurricane, such as heavy rains and tornadoes, the main emphasis of the Awareness Week will be directed at that area where the threat is the greatest—the coastal counties. However, Awareness Week informational material will be disseminated across the entire southern half of Mississippi.

It is during this week that residents of Southern Mississippi should make preparations for the next time a hurricane strikes the Mississippi Coast. Last year was a quiet hurricane season for Mississippi, but it was only two years ago that three hurricanes affected the state.

The most memorable was Elena which dealt a direct blow to the Mississippi Coast. It is therefore urged that residents use June 8 through 12 to begin formulating a hurricane preparedness plan for this hurricane season.

The average number of tropical cyclones in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico during the hurricane season is four tropical storms and six hurricanes. It is hard to predict what this upcoming hurricane season will bring, but just one major hurricane hitting the United States coast could possibly cause billions of dollars of property damage and a number of deaths. So let's prepare...just in case.

IN CONGRESS
By Cong. Trent Lott

The need to develop Mississippi's highways: an overriding factor

Mississippi has a tremendous need to improve our roads, our interstate system and our bridges.

In that connection, the Mississippi Legislature just passed a major highway bill, and last week both the House of Representatives and the Senate voted to override the President's veto of the $37.5 billion federal highway and mass transit bill.

The federal bill included an estimated $128.7 million for the maintenance and repair of highways in Mississippi and earmarked $16.5 million for the four-laning of a 14.7 mile stretch of U.S. 98 from just south of Hattiesburg to New Augusta.

The coupling of the state's new highway plan with these federal funds could prompt the most aggressive highway development seen in Mississippi in many years.

That is one of the main reasons I voted to override the President's veto of the highway bill. Most of the funds in the bill came from the Highway Trust Fund—those gasoline taxes earmarked for highway development—and not from general revenue tax dollars.

In his veto argument, the President correctly stated that the overall highway bill cost too much money and that there were too many mass transit projects funded from general revenues instead of the Highway Trust Fund.

But for Mississippi especially, we needed a highway bill. In Washington, we always go through the squabble over federal priorities in spending. We argue over how much to spend on agriculture, the preservation of our parks and health care, and, oftentimes, I believe the government involves itself in programs it should not.

In the order of priorities of the federal government, I put the construction and maintenance of our highways pretty high up on the list. Highway and bridge construction has to do with safety, health, interstate transportation, the development of rural areas and the creation of jobs. Without decent highways, there will not be industrial development.

I listened to the President's argument against this bill, but in the final analysis, I felt it addressed a real need for us in Mississippi.

Lives would be saved and injuries prevented as a result of the improvements which would be made on U.S. 98. Throughout our state, road construction means the creation of jobs.

Another key consideration was that the defeat of this bill at this time would have sent it back for a difficult rewrite process that would have taken weeks, not days, and could have threatened the institution of the 65 mile-per-hour speed limit on some federal highways.

In the end, all these factors combined to make highways an overriding need for Mississippi.

Preparation must be made before a Hurricane strikes

Hurricane Season is upon us again and now is the time to prepare before an actual hurricane threatens.

Each person has special needs, such as medicines and prescription glasses, but also a general list to have on hand includes a supply of non-perishable foods, First Aid Kit, a fire extinguisher, a battery powered commercial and NOAA Weather Radio, a flashlight and extra batteries.

The most dangerous element in a hurricane is the accompanying high tides and rough seas as the storm moves inland. Tides from 3 to 10 feet above normal are common, but can be much higher. If you live in a coastal area, have a safe evacuation route planned ahead of time. Get information planning in your area by contacting your local Civil Defense agency.

Hurricanes can cause extensive flooding, not just along the coastline, but far inland also. Flood insurance provides valuable financial protection. You should be aware, though, that your Homeowners policy does not cover damage from flooding. Check into the availability of flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program by contacting your local insurance agent.

Hurricane watches, warnings and advisories are issued by the National Hurricane Center in Miami, Fla.

A Hurricane Watch means a hurricane has become a threat to coastal areas and is usually issued 24 to 48 hours before expected landfall. Everyone covered by a watch should listen for more advisories and act promptly if a warning is issued.

A Hurricane Warning indicates hurricane winds greater than 74 miles an hour and high and rough seas are expected in a specific coastal area within 24 hours. Precautionary actions should begin immediately.

AFTER THE HURRICANE HAS PASSED

If you evacuate to a public shelter, remain there until you are told that it is safe to return home.

Listen to your local radio or television stations for advice and instructions from the local government about food, housing and other forms of assistance.

Do not drive unless necessary. The streets are likely to be filled with debris and downed power lines. Roads should be reserved primarily for emergency vehicles and essential rescue and recovery work.

Avoid loose or dangling wires and report them to your local electric company as soon as possible. Report any broken sewer or water mains to the water department.

Hurricanes moving inland can cause severe flooding. Stay away from river banks and streams.

Discuss hurricane preparedness with your family. Share your ideas with friends, neighbors and relatives. Hurricane preparedness is a job for everyone in the community.

For any help or assistance on hurricane preparedness, contact your local Civil Defense agency.

MARY ANN AND HURRICANE CAMILLE

On Aug. 15, 1969 a hurricane named Camille moved into the Gulf of Mexico. On the evening of Aug. 17, Camille slammed into the Mississippi Coast.

Mary Ann was one of the 24 people who didn't leave the Richelieu Apartments when they were warned. A storm surge of 20 feet or more hit the apartment, breaking out windows and weakening the structure. The apartment flooded and then collapsed, just after Mary Ann floated out the window on a pillow.

The wind was awful, sometimes as much as 234 mph. Mary Ann floated around, holding onto anything she could. The winds and waves were so strong that every time Mary Ann grabbed something, it was ripped from her hands.

Mary Ann was battered and bloody, but hung on for 12 hours. When she was found some 4½ miles from her apartment, she was nearly dead. She went to the hospital and stayed for three weeks.

Mary Ann was lucky to survive. The message is simple—when you are told to evacuate—LEAVE. If you decide to ride a hurricane out, you may not be as lucky as Mary Ann.

Perniciaro seeking fourth term as supervisor, District Four

Sam J. Perniciaro, 62, has announced his candidacy for reelection to the Hancock County District 4 Supervisor's post.

A Bay St. Louis resident, he has been serving as supervisor since 1976.

He is a three-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force and served in the South Pacific during World War II.

Perniciaro has also served as a Hancock County constable.

He is a member of Bay St. Louis Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Bay St. Louis American Legion, the Bay-Waveland Rod and Gun Club, the Gulf Coast Sportsman Club, member of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission, and the Hancock Animal Control Commission.

Perniciaro attended Bay Senior High School and is owner of Sam's Auto and Wrecker Service on Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis.

Married to the former Marion Ladner, their children include four sons, Sam Jr., who manages the family business; Danny, Randy, and Andrew.

"Your support in August will be appreciated. I assure you that I will continue to serve you as I have in the past, for all of District 4 and to make Hancock County a better place to live," the candidate stated.

SAM PERNICIARO

Pearl River chamber president seeking District 47 senate post

Sherry Morris of Poplarville has announced her candidacy for senator from District 47.

Some of her goals as senator will be:

—Economic Development: State and county officials, chamber of commerce and local people need to work together to encourage industrial development in the state.

—Education: The Education Reform Act was a vital and positive step toward the education of children. However, the act should be evaluated by educators and amended, if needed.

—Insurance Rates: Insurance rates have increased or doubled over the last year. This is a burden to the citizens of Mississippi. The average person, the elderly and/or retired citizens cannot afford to pay these high rates. Lower insurance rates with improved coverage are vitally needed.

—County Unit System: It is time for the people to vote on the County Unit System. This is basic to our system of government - a government of the people, for the people and by the people which can only be achieved by giving the people an opportunity to express their will.

—Agriculture: The agricultural sector is continuing to face serious problems. Agricultural endeavors and the economics of agriculture must be revitalized through positive programs. This will be difficult but not impossible with hard work and commitment.

She has lived most of her life in Pearl River County and is married to Pat Morris, a teacher and coach in the Poplarville School District.

They have two children, Leigh, who is enrolled at Pearl River Junior College and Randy, a sophomore at Poplarville High School.

AN ARTIST'S RENDERING of the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier in Waveland shows all seven phases of a proposed extension project. A $50,000 in Bureau of Marine Resources matching funds, $12,500 from Waveland and $15,000 from Hancock County has already been secured for the project. In addition, the county has agreed to either jointly sponsor or transfer to Waveland a $45,000 Bureau of Recreation and Parks grant. Designer for the project is Ray Eaton and Associates of Jackson.

County, Waveland may jointly sponsor pier extension if grant is not transferred

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two State Bureau of Recreation and Parks officials say Hancock County and the City of Waveland may either jointly sponsor a proposed extension of the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier or the county may transfer $45,000 in grant funding to Waveland.

James Graves and Larry Trotter, both of the bureau's grants division, met Thursday with Supervisors A.A. Kellar and Sam Pernicaro and Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. and Alderman Herman Yarborough to discuss the project.

The money had earlier been allocated to and accepted by the board of supervisors for limited recreational development on the beach in front of Buccaneer State Park.

However, the state leases part of the park, including the beach, and grant funds are no longer being provided for development of leased property.

Trotter said the state can not afford operation and maintenance on any more property and any project funded would have to be a local rather than state project.

When the board was notified that the beach project was not eligible, the supervisors proposed that the seven-phase Ladner pier project in Waveland, for which the city has already received $50,000 in matching funds, might be eligible for the Bureau of Recreation and Parks money.

The city has already agreed to put up $12,500 in matching for the pier and the county had agreed to participate with $15,000.

According to Longo, the combination of all funds will probably be enough to finish the first phase, a 520-foot wooden fishing pier with fish cleaning areas, bait holders, benches and a handicapped-access ramp.

Provisions for lighting will also be included, although electrical work may have to be done later, depending on funds.

Designer for the project is Ray Eaton and Associates of Jackson. Graves said a joint sponsorship or transfer would require approval from the bureau's parent agency, Mississippi Department of Natural Resources, and possibly a resolution from the supervisors.

Longo said a $2 to $3 charge might be assessed on the pier to pay for operation, maintenance and a daily attendant and to possibly generate some additional revenue for the city.

The two supervisors said joint sponsorship would be agreeable if the county is not given maintenance responsibilities. If not, a complete transfer of the grant would be acceptable.

Attorneys ask county for conference rooms

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has received another request from attorneys for conference rooms in the courthouse.

Attorneys Nicholas Haas and Michael Haas Sr. presented the supervisors Monday with a resolution from the Hancock County Bar Association.

Nicholas Haas, who serves as association president, explained that lawyers lack private places in which to confer with clients during court proceedings and have had to use any place available, including hallways and stairwells.

According to the resolution, "...The need for attorneys to be able to visit with clients in privacy is a fundamental right of clients be they criminal defendants, civil plaintiffs or civil defendants."

There is some office space already set aside for the county prosecutor and district attorney, who use it for interviews or conferences with prosecution witnesses.

However, as the resolution states, "Criminal defendants and civil litigants must meet with their attorneys in hallways, stairwells or other public areas of the courthouse."

The bar association president said at least two rooms, one for prosecution and one for defense, need to be set aside to make privacy for conferences.

A committee of bar association members, Henry J. Cook III, Michael Haas Sr. and Clement S. Benvenuti have made an informal survey of the problem and have found a small room immediately north of the upstairs boardroom now being used by the Hancock County Election Commission for storage.

The stored items consist of voting machines and other election equipment that could be moved to the old jail, Nicholas Haas explained. A second door would have to be cut to make the room accessible from outside the boardroom, where Grand Juries meet in secrecy.

A second room that would be suitable is now being used by a parole officer from Mississippi Department of Corrections. "We don't want to see anybody being put out of office space but it is essential that we be able to confer as close to the courtroom as possible. We suggest they be relocated to the youth court, or perhaps space could be found in the new jail," the bar association president said.

The resolution also asks the supervisors to provide $750 to clean up and repair the two rooms.

In addition, the resolution names a bar association committee of Michael Haas Sr., Henry J. Cook III and Clement S. Benvenuti, who conducted an informal survey to find the two rooms.

The supervisors agreed to take the matter under advisement until they can discuss it with various county department heads to find out what space can be freed and where possible relocations could be made.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. June 15.

Diamondhead to host state Democratic women's convention

The Mississippi Federation of Democratic Women will host its third annual convention on Saturday, June 13 at Diamondhead.

Theme of the convention is "Gearing up for Election Victories '87 & '88."

The workshop themes will include vote-getting techniques and working with the various media.

The luncheon speaker will be Mrs. Susan Dowdy, wife of U.S. Congressman Wayne Dowdy from the Fourth Congressional District.

Other Honorable Linda Boggs, U.S. Representative from Louisiana, and Mrs. Sheila Espy, wife of U.S.

Representative Mike Espy from the Second Congressional District, will address the banquet to be held at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The registration fee is $40 which includes the workshop, materials, luncheon and banquet.

The luncheon, only, costs $10 and the banquet cost is $20.

There will be a candidate's reception at the Diamondhead Country Club at 5 p.m. which is open to all. A cash bar will be available.

For reservation or information, contact Hilda L. Bourg, conference chairman, at 255-1299.

Poplarville man dies in accident

John Alvareeze Shaw, 27, of Poplarville died Saturday in a one-vehicle accident on Highway 603 near White Cypress.

The accident occurred at approximately 4:33 a.m. and witnesses reported Shaw apparently lost control of the vehicle, which ran off the road and flipped more than one time.

Shaw was pronounced dead at scene by Harold Stiglet, Hancock County Medical Examiner Investigator.

"The victim died of multiple head and chest injuries," Stiglet said. Shaw was driving a 1980 Chevrolet pickup.

Mississippi State Trooper Glen Grice is in charge of the investigation.

'Tasteful Murder' set at Dante-by-the-Bay

Reservations are now being taken for a murder, scheduled to occur June 12 during dinner at Dante-by-the-Bay Restaurant in Bay St. Louis.

The event, being staged by Riviera Productions, will allow guests to witness the "death" and to participate in solving the crime.

According to Riviera Productions Artistic Director David Lucas, the production is being billed as "A Tasteful Murder" and was inspired by a party he attended while visiting California recently, which he called "a new and very bizarre form of environmental theater."

"It's a departure from traditional dinner theater in that the audience participates. The actors will be indistinguishable from the guests and no one will know which is which," Lucas said.

"The assembly will be informed that one of them is a murderer and everyone will have to prove their innocence before the evening is over."

Lucas requests that guest bring business cards or proof of identity and advises ladies who do not wish to be fingerprinted to wear gloves.

"Be prepared to look for clues and motives," he added.

Whoever solves the crime will receive tickets to Riviera's summer showcase, the musical "Eyta."

Dante-by-the-Bay owner Her Pope, who will serve as hostess for the event, said reservations must be made and no one can be admitted late due to the nature of the productions.

Her guests are invited to get acquainted over cocktails, which will begin at 7 p.m. with a cash bar.

Dinner will follow at 7:30 p.m. The menu includes salad, trout florentine or veal bienville as the entree, and homemade lemon ice cream for dessert.

A fee of $25 per person will be charged and reservations can be made by calling the restaurant at 467-2332.

Proceeds from "A Tasteful Murder" will benefit Riviera Productions.

Wastewater district pursuing bond issue

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District will be advertising intent to issue $1,287,300 for the third segment of a four-segment wastewater improvement project.

The district's board authorized the advertisement Wednesday.

The project will eventually link the Waveland and Bay St. Louis sewage collection systems with an expanded version of the existing Waveland treatment plant as primary treatment facility. In addition, collection systems will be built in the recently formed Hancock County Wastewater District No. 1.

The third segment will consist of pipeline work leading into the plant and plant improvements.

The board's attorney, Lucien Cox, explained that the bond issue, which can be repaid through various types of revenue that may or may not include taxes, could be brought to a vote if the lesser of 20 percent or 1,500 voters in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county petition the wastewater board.

The statute is not clear regarding whether the 20 percent or 1,500 must be from a total of all three public entities included in the regional wastewater district or whether those are the limits for each separate entity.

Much of Segment III is being funded through grants from U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and interest-free state loans.

The wastewater district received an addition to a state loan for Segment III on Wednesday.

According to Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control representative Bryan Engle, the extra loan money consists of windfall funds divided among various projects in the state. Waveland's share is about $501,000 and may be spent on any segment of the project.

Because the upper limit on anticipated state loan money for Segment IV has been reduced from $400,000 to $250,000, the board voted that $150,000 of the $501,000 be allocated to Segment IV.

The remainder will be distributed equitably among the other segments, according to the board's chairman, John Longo Jr.

The board's next meeting will be 6:30 p.m. on July 1.

Diamondhead Art Association

The Diamondhead Art Association held its regular monthly meeting June 1 at the Diamondhead Community Center.

Featured recent first and second place winners in the Sildell Art League in April were photographic works by Louis Cordova; one boat scene and one photographic alligator.

Other art works displayed included Jeanne Coursey's two oil paintings, one of a fishing boat and one of a scene on Horn Island; Willie Solomon displayed her Seminole Indian skirt and matching smocked blouse; Tommy Thompson displayed his French warship in its third stage of progression; Ida Tolbert showed two portraits done while she was visiting in France; Sandi Smith showed her self-portrait; Dixie Ogden displayed an 1860 French print, and a set of 1846 Confederate Government Bonds, and a watercolor given to her by a friend, Dorothy Booth.

Homemakers Extension Council

Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council has selected winners in its annual "Operation Mailbox"—an effort to beautify the area through a War-on-Ugliness, with the hope of stimulating civic pride.

We want to commend the people in the county who exerted extra effort in beautifying their mailbox areas. The most attractive boxes in the four areas are those of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finnan, 603 Beyer Street, Bay St. Louis; G. Greenwald, 605 Nicholson Avenue, Waveland; Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Farrell, 119 Helen Drive, County; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Cole, No. 2 Possum Way, Diamondhead.

We appreciate the enthusiasm and creativity of county residents in decorating their mailboxes and encourage more community beautification projects next year.

Hancock Medical Center Auxiliary

The meeting of the auxiliary was held at the Waveland United Methodist Church in Waveland. After much discussion the members agreed to sponsor a Secure Care System for the hospital. More information will be available in our local newspapers soon. Bay St. Louis, Piquette, and Pass Christian will be the approximate area of service.

The Secure Care System is a method by which the elderly and people with mobility limitations and cardiovascular problems can summon immediate help when needed anytime 24 hours a day.

Edna Klempeter will hold an organizing meeting with the assistance of Beth Pugh and Marietta Wiser, representatives of the Secure Care System. Mary Perkins, community relations director of the hospital, will also be assisting in the planning.

Dottie Corlies was welcomed to our membership. Mary Perkins will be giving training sessions for services provided by our auxiliary volunteers in wheel chair safety and fire rules.

The auxiliary has purchased twelve cotons to be used in patient rooms for family members caring for patients.

The July meeting has been moved to Thursday the fourth because of conflict with the Fourth of July.

DAR chapter plans week-long event to celebrate Constitution anniversary

By Joe Pilet
Publicist

Friendship Oak Ch. NS DAR
Pages from the Past is the theme of a week long celebration being planned by Friendship Oak Chapter, NS DAR in recognition of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution.

Dick and Nadine Stamm will host the event at Nadic Arts Studio located in Bay St. Louis on Main Street and just across the street from the Main Branch of Hancock Bank.

Plans include demonstrations of weaving, quilting, and other early American crafts. Exhibits include kitchen utensils, dolls and toys, rare old quilts and costumes.

"We will be giving lots of prizes and there will be something for all age groups," said Mrs. Stamm who plans to present each child with a "souvenir".

The object of the contests is to symbolize conditions and life style in our nation in the early days following the making of our Federal Constitution, explains Mrs. James R. Thomas, regent for the chapter.

Several who have volunteered to contribute prizes specified subject matter. Pam Bilbo, manager of Security Savings in Bay St. Louis would like children of grade levels 5 and 6 to write 50 words or less about Alexander Hamilton. She will personally be on hand to present the prize. Mike Necaise, chancery clerk in Hancock County, would like 7th and 8th grade level boys and girls to list early inventions.

Throughout the nation grateful and loyal citizens of the 50 states will participate in the year-long celebration of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

"Everybody loves museum visits," said Mrs. George Cassis of Diamondhead, who is chairperson of the hostess committee, and said the time of the showing took into consideration weather factors, vacation time, and convenient parking spaces behind the bank.

"This is also a perfect time to revive the spirit of patriotism," said Mrs. Larry R. Lisenbee of Long Beach, chaplain for the chapter.

Hancock Women's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Hancock Women's Club was held at the King Wah Chinese Restaurant in Bay St. Louis on Thursday, May 14 with Lois Crippie presiding. There were 31 members and two guests, Lillian Harnett and Wilma Knoke, present.

The yard sale on May 2 was the most successful held by the club to date. Unsold items were donated to the St. Vincent de Paul thrift shop.

The membership voted to donate $300 to the Adult Literacy Educational Program for the purchase of supplies needed to conduct the program which is sponsored by the Hancock County Library System and directed by Sister Helene Roth.

This program is also in need of more teaching volunteers and several of our club members are interested in preparing for this activity when the next training class is held. The club members also voted to donate $100 to the Mississippi Epilepsy Association.

Jeanne Garcia spoke about the Ellisville State School retardation center, and their need for donations of toys, games and all kinds of knitted items, such as stocking caps, sweaters, or small afghans. Since their federal funds have been reduced they are unable to purchase these items.

The door prize was won by Loraine Townsend. On May 23 there was a craft workshop at the home of Ruth Gallagher in Waveland. The group decorated ceramic masks.

The Waveland Library will not be available for this month's meeting on June 11 which will be instead at the home of Julia Toup, 820 Central Ave., Waveland. Luncheon will be served.

The June meeting is the last one before summer break, with resumption scheduled for Sept. 10. Planning is already under way for various fall activities.

Her tea length veil of French illusion fell from a Juliet cap of Alencon lace and pearls.

She carried a cascade of white silk sweetheart rosebuds and miniature roses with white blossoms, baby's breath and pearl hearts with satin streamers.

Myra Marsh of Pass Christian, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Maid of honor was Dena Ladner of Pass Christian, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Hope Bonney, sister of the groom; Pam Ladner and Gee Gee Woodcock, cousins of the bride, and Donna Beech, all of Pass Christian.

BY KATY MC GUIRE CAIRE

The so-versatile in cookery onion, pungent and aromatic, adds, as we all know, its own special flavor to many dishes. It also stands quite well on its own as a vegetable or salad ingredient, though many cooks fail to realize this and to make full use of the onion.

And, though you may not believe it, the onion is a member of the lily of the valley family, along with the tulip, the chive, the shallot, and so on. A rose by any other name, and all that sort of thing!

The word "onion" derives from French through Latin, because of the single-shaped bulb. It was honored by the ancient Egyptians as the symbol of the universe, and slaves building the great Pyramids of Egypt, so history tells us, existed on a diet of onions, radishes and garlic - healthy, I'm sure, but how conducive to making and keeping friends about?

From the tiniest sweet onions to the huge red ones, onions have a special taste appeal of their own. And a real taste treat, somewhat off the usual beaten path of cuisine is:

FRENCH STUFFED ONIONS
6 onions, peeled

1/2 lb. ground or minced ham, beef, veal or chicken cooked
2 strips bacon, chopped or diced
1/2 cup sour cream
1 Tbsp. or so chopped celery, also parsley
1 cup soft bread crumbs (not toasted)
Butter or margarin
1 cup stock or bouillon

Parboil the onions for ten minutes or so, until tender. Scoop out the centers, set the shells aside and chop the pulp which you've removed. Saute this, along with the ground meat and bacon, and add all the other ingredients except the butter and bouillon.

Fill the onion shells with the mixture, dot with butter or margarin, and bake in a shallow pan or casserole, into which you've poured the broth or bouillon, in a preheated oven at 400 degrees for 45 minutes. (Six servings.)

P.S. These are delicious cooked on the barbecue pit along with all the other delectables. Just wrap in heavy foil before cooking, individually or together.
